You can also have a friend, relative or anyone else you choose help you in filing and resolving a complaint or grievance.

When you contact the Aging & Disability Resource Center about a complaint or grievance, we will ask you to put it in writing. There is a form to use for this purpose, or you can write your complaint or grievance on a piece of paper. If you need help, staff at the Aging & Disability Resource Center will assist you to write it out.

Your complaint or grievance will be given to the immediate supervisor right away. The supervisor or ADRC Director will contact you within 10 business days to discuss the complaint or grievance; review the options available to resolve the issue; and offer assistance.

The options available to resolve a complaint or grievance regarding the Aging & Disability Resource Center include:

If you choose this option, within 10 business days a supervisor or the Aging & Disability Resource Center Director will talk with you on the phone or meet with you in person to discuss and try to resolve the problem. You can have anyone you want with you at the meeting. Following your contact with a supervisor or ADRC Director, you will receive a letter that reviews your complaint and how it was resolved.

- 2) Formal Internal Appeal: If you prefer a more formal process or if you have tried the Informal Internal Appeal process and are still dissatisfied, you can either file a Formal Internal Appeal or attend a Aging & Disability Resource Center board meeting and bring your complaint to their attention during the "Public Comments" agenda item. If you choose the Formal Internal Appeal option, within 10 business days the ADRC Director will arrange to meet with you in person to discuss and try to resolve the problem.
